

Digital Disruption in Healthcare and Wellness

Organizers

Juergen Seitz, Professor
DHBW Heidenheim, Germany
Nilmini Wickramasinghe, Professor
Epworth Healthcare & Swinburne University of Technology, Melbourne, Australia

Panelists

Christer Carlsson, Professor,
Åbo Akademi University, Turku, Finland
Christian Kittl, Managing Director,
Evolaris next level GmbH, Graz, Austria
Doug Vogel, Professor
Harbin Institute of Technology, Harbin, P. R. of China
Gisela García Álvarez, Managing Director
Galician Health Cluster, Spain
Mar Ferreira Broz, Deputy Director General Residential Resources and Day Care
Ministry of Social Affairs of Galicia
Miroslav Končar, Business Development Director, Global Markets, Marand d.o.o., Slovenia and Associate Professor, Faculty of Electrical Engineering and Computing, Croatia.
Ronald Spanjers
Roessingh Rehabilitation, Enschede, The Netherlands
Silvia Laiño Piñeiro, Chief of Service, Common Resources and Alzheimer's
Ministry of Social Affairs of Galicia
Victor Fariña, CEO,
Queres Technologies, Spain
Vladislav Rajkovič, Professor
University of Maribor, Slovenia
Živa Rant, Expert Associate
National Institute of Public Health, Slovenia

Panel Outline

Disruption means 'creative destruction'. Digital transformation changes markets and business models radically and in a comprehensive way. Many of these changes will be disruptive. The healthcare industry is highly regulated, the wellness industry less regulated. What does regulation mean for digital transformation especially in the healthcare and wellness industry? How can the digital transformation take place in the healthcare and wellness industry? What are the impacts of digital disruption?